

Knockout

Knockout is a weekly game mode only available in the 1v1 format. The objective of Knockout is to progress through as many matches and divisions as possible, with limited “attempts” at hand. This creates an exciting feeling that every game truly matters.

Knockout Weekly Reset

Knockout is only playable during a specific time window (for example, Thursday-Sunday) each week, and resets on a weekly basis.

Users should be able to tell how long it is left until the next Knockout becomes available when none is currently available, and how long is left until the ongoing one expires.

Knockout Divisions

Knockout games are divided into 4 regular Divisions (not counting the final Knockout Division), each split into 3 subdivisions. These are Bronze, Silver, Gold and Elite.

Users start each week in Bronze III, and work their way upwards to Bronze II, then Bronze I, then Silver III etc.

Each Division is made up of a set number of max games, and thresholds for each subdivision.

The number of max games and thresholds can vary per Division.

As an Example, the Bronze division gives the user a total of 15 games maximum. To get from Bronze III to Bronze II, the user needs to win 1 game. To get from Bronze II to Bronze I, they need to win an additional time (for a total of 2 Bronze wins) and to get promoted into the next Division (Silver III) they need to win a total of 3 games.

Each game removes 1 from the total of remaining games, whether it was a win or a loss.

Division	Max Games	II Wins	I Wins	Next Division Wins
Bronze	20	1	2	3
Silver	15	2	4	6
Gold	12	3	5	7
Elite	10	4	6	8
Division	Attempts
Knockout	2	-	-	-

Getting Knocked Out

If users fail to reach a new Division within the max number of games, they are eliminated and can no longer play this weeks rotation of Knockout.

They can then immediately claim the reward for the Division/Subdivision they reached (unless they are in the Knockout Leaderboard, detailed further down on this page).

If users have games remaining but too few to reach the next Division/Subdivision, they are automatically knocked out after the match where this state was reached.

Division Rewards

Weekly rewards are separate per Division/Subdivision and users earn rewards only for the specific one they reached this week.

Claiming Weekly Rewards

Rewards remain claimable until the next round of Knockout begins. If the user has not claimed the reward until that time, we automatically claim the rewards and add the items to the users inventory when the next event begins.

Match Rewards

Points and XP after each played game - same logic and values as Ranked.

Knockout Division & Leaderboard

Users that manage to move all the way through the Divisions, completing the Elite Division, are promoted into the Knockout Division. This Division has unique functionality compared to the 4 regular Divisions.

Users have a limited number of attempts before getting knocked out, but they do not progress through subdivisions. Instead, they can play as many games as possible to reach the highest amount of wins they are able to before running out of attempts. Each loss removes 1 attempt, whereas a win leaves the number of attempts remaining unaffected.

When reaching this Division, we start tracking their position on a global leaderboard across all platforms, and if they are within the top 10,000 users this is displayed in a badge that is displayed similar to rank badges.

Users that reach the top 500 win streaks within the Division across all platforms are displayed in an in-game leaderboard.

Users here are displayed in order of highest to lowest win-streak. Whichever user achieved the streak first is considered higher on the leaderboard in the case of ties.

If users shown on the leaderboard have an account connected to the platform the local user is currently viewing the leaderboard on, that platform username is displayed. Otherwise their GOALS username is displayed.

Top 500 Leaderboard Rewards

The weekly reward for users that are in the Knockout Division works differently in that it depends on the outcome of their final position on the leaderboard when this Knockout window closes.

That means users can not claim their reward until that occurs, as they can potentially move down in position without playing.

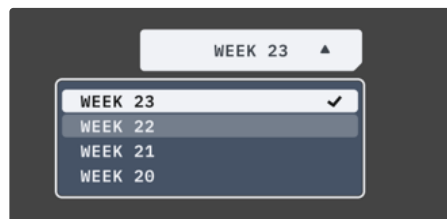

Users are rewarded based on how they end the week on the leaderboard, and only earn the specific reward position they were placed within (a user can not get both the top 500 and top 100 rewards for example).

Position	Rewards
In Knockout Division	2,000,000 XP 125,000 points 1x 1 Epic+
Top 500	2,000,000 XP 150,000 points 1x 1 Epic+, 1x 2 Rare+
Top 100	2,000,000 XP 200,000 points 1x 1 Epic+, 1x 5 Rare+
Top 50	2,000,000 XP 250,000 points 2x 1 Epic+
Top 10	2,000,000 XP 300,000 points 2x 1 Epic+, 3x Rare+
Top 5	2,000,000 XP 350,000 points 3x 1 Epic+
Third position	2,000,000 XP 400,000 points 4x 1 Epic+

Second position	2,000,000 XP 450,000 points 1x 1 Legendary+
First position	2,000,000 XP 500,000 points 1x 1 Legendary+ Attacker

Leaderboard History (MVP+)

The result of the top 500 leaderboard should be stored each week, so that we can allow users to reference it in the future.

Regional Leaderboards

While the rewards for the Knockout Leaderboards are exclusive to the global top 500 users across all platforms, we want to allow users to displayed leaderboards specific to regions as well. These regional leaderboards display up to 500 users that have accounts based in each specific region.
