

Ranked

Game Mode

The Ranked game mode utilizes a rank system, where users strive to climb in ranks on a weekly basis, starting in Division 10 at the beginning of each week (9:00 on Mondays) with the ambition to get to rank 1. The rank a user has in the Ranked game mode is decided by how many Ranking Points they have gathered during the week, which is an up-only value based on the number of games and performance. Ranking points should not be confused with Skill Rating, which is a separate value that we use for matchmaking purposes, but that does not determine a user's rank. Ranking points and rank reset on a weekly basis (Monday 9:00), whereas Skill Rating does not reset.

See the ranking points buckets for each rank under "Rank Rewards".

Matchmaking

For matchmaking, we strictly use Skill Rating, a value that does not reset when ranking points are reset.

Match Points

Users playing Ranked get a points reward after every game according to our soft currency reward formula (currently used in Quickplay, GG-6640: Quickplay coin rewards DONE). However, in Ranked, the number of soft currency gained from a match increases with the skill rating (not to be confused with ranking points) of the opponent. This is to avoid users from intentionally tanking their skill rating to easier farm rewards. The same base soft currency formula as for Quickplay will be used, but with a multiplier based on the SR of the opponent. The multiplier should be setup the following way, linearly increasing between 500 and 2500 SR:

≤ 500 - 1.0 soft currency multiplier

≥ 2500 - 2.0 soft currency multiplier

The SR soft currency multiplier is applied both to the winning and losing user, as well as if the game end in a draw. The calculation of soft currency from a ranked game hence becomes: Loser/Winner soft currency * Duration multiplier * SR multiplier. The theoretical maximum soft currency a user can earn if beating a 2500+ SR user in a game that runs the full duration would be: $1000 * 1.0 * 2.0 = 2000$ soft currency.

If a user disconnects, they are considered the loser of the game but are rewarded with soft currency for the duration they stayed in the game. The SR multiplier is applied even in a case where a user disconnects.

For the user that remains in a game after their opponent disconnects, they are considered the winner of the game, and get rewarded with winner soft currency for the duration the game lasted. The SR multiplier is applied to the remaining user as well.

Rank Rewards

In addition to soft currency after a match, users also get rewards based on their rank determined by their number of ranking points. These rewards come in two forms - instant soft currency bonus when reaching a new rank, and weekly rewards (player pack(s)) based on the rank a user has when the reset occurs. Below is the breakdown of rewards per rank:

Leaderboard

TOP500 global leaderboard based on current skill rating. The ranking points value should not be displayed in the leaderboard, but we show a symbol indicating what rank a user is currently in.

The local user's leaderboard placement should be visible to the local user even if they are outside the global TOP500.

Long-term: The TOP500 leaderboard should be sortable by region and friends list. The purpose of those filters is to see how you compare to different groups of interest.
